FRENTON'S PROCLAMATION RECENTLY.—It will be seen from our telegraphic despatches, that the President of the United States has issued an order so modifying and rectifying that clause of Fremont's Proclamation which relates to the confiscation of property and the liberation of slaves as to make it conform to the act of Congress on the subject of confiscation. It appears that the President, on receiving the proclamation, promptly wrote to Fremont, asking him to modify the objectionable clause, but Fremont preferred that the modification should be made by a direct order from the Government, which accordingly is done.

The President has made thorough work of this business. The proclamation is rectified upon the points which we published on Thursday last. They are, first: the liberation of the confiscated negro. Second: the restriction of the confiscation of negroes to those cases in which they are used in promoting actual hostilities against the United States; and third, a modification of that portion of the proclamation which recognises no difference between disloyalists who ceased hostilities against the Government, and those disloyalists who persist in rebellion. The President requires the proclamations to conform to the law of Congress on this subject.

We have been confident from the first that this matter would be set right. The right action of the President in the case will surely vex the secessionists. It annihilates a large portion of their most available capital in trade. They will hardly know what to do for material to work with when they can no longer hope to make the people believe that the purpose of the U.S. Government is to set free the slaves of the South. The stopping of the hole will keep away a good deal of wind.

GOVERNOR'S PROCLAMATION.—We give below the proclamation of the Governor in accordance to the joint resolution of the Legislature passed by overwhelming majorities over the veto of His Excellency. We think we never knew a bitter pill to be swallowed with less grace. Why doesn't the Governor do it?

PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR.—In obedience to the jointed joint resolution adopted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, the Government of the Confederate States, the State of Tennessee, and all others concerned, are hereby informed that "Kentucky expects the Confederate or Tennessee troops to withdraw from her soil unconditionally."

In testimony whereof, I have countersigned the seal of the Commonwealth to be affixed. Done at Frankfort, the 13th day of September, A. D. 1861, and in the seventh year of the Commonwealth.

LOUISVILLE JOURNAL

SOUTHERN SOALIFICATION AT THE TAKING OF FORT HARRISON.—The Richmond Whig of a recent date has a most sarcastic article on the capture of the Hatters fort, censuring by implication the Confederate authorities, and which commences in this style:

"Let us imitate the nutmeg Chinese by all means. The fort has been taken, many hundreds of men have surrendered, a large amount of powder has been captured, and the rebels are seven hundred and seven wounded in the arm during the engagement.

The rebels had accurate advice of our approach and exact strength, as appears from the paper.

The rebels had expert riflemen and gunners to resist an attack. They had six regiments besides their entrencheds, with artillery mounted on them.

During the whole engagement, lasting nearly four hours, we brought into action only two regiments, and of these but parts of them were engaged.

The rebels had expert riflemen to pick off officers, and fire spears from their canister missle unknown to civilized warfare.

The rebels had the best road to fortify, and the best route to retreat to Louisville cut off.

It will take 300,000 men to retake the fort, but that is nothing. What we want with it? It was built for fun, evidently. Had we been in some country where we have taken of the warning given by Northern papers.

It would be the height of folly and treason to accuse any member of the Cabinet of being responsible for the capture of the fort.

We have now well over the superfluous energy, the sleepless vigilance and miraculous provision of God, to make up for the loss of a moment the shadow of a suspicion of any shortcoming on the part of any one really or remotely connected with the capture of the fort.

But we have as much men as he pleases in the forts of North Carolina. Of course we will whelp them, for we have not the greatest number of unarmed militia?"

SECESSION GOING UNDER.—Col. Forney writes from Washington:

McCallum is dying into Arkansas; Magoffin covers before the Federal authorities and then disappears into Kentucky. He is retreating along the Mississippi; Rosecrans is holding Lee and Floyd in check; the Battle of Franklin is fought, and the rebels are less at the feet of General Dix. It is even rumored that the "Grand Army," that now threatens McClellan, is the others open to him. But Lee has as much men as he pleases in the forts of North Carolina. Of course we will whelp them, for we have not the greatest number of unarmed militia?"

TOPOGRAPHY OF THE SEAT OF WAR.—The Washington correspondent of the New York Evening Post, writing under date of September 8, has the following, which, at this juncture, will be read with peculiar interest, as showing the locality of the Confederate forces on the Potomac and the progress of the great battle:

"The rebels have been very quiet for the last two or three days, and are now commonly reported that they have relinquished their purpose if they ever had it of attacking Washington itself. They have been, however, busily employed in the destruction of the railroad. Meanwhile the blockade is stretching its long arms, and will presently hug the whole Confederacy in an iron band which will render it impotent. Slave State will shortly rise from whispered complaint in open denunciation, and the most potent enemies of the rebellion will speedily be found in the States now under its thrall."

UNION FEELING IN EAST TENNESSEE.—Let those who think the Union men in East Tennessee are giving way read the following from the Atlanta (Ga.) Intelligencer, a secession organ:
